

Co-Diagnostics, Inc. to Host Booth at MEDICA 2021 Trade Fair in Düsseldorf, Germany

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 15, 2021 /PRNewswire/ -- Co-Diagnostics, Inc. (Nasdaq-CM: CODX) (the "Company"), a molecular diagnostics company with a unique, patented platform for the development of molecular diagnostic tests, announced today that it will be hosting a booth this week at the MEDICA 2021 trade fair in Düsseldorf, Germany from 15-18 November.

The Fair is expected to include around 2,900 exhibitors from 70 countries, returning to an in-person trade show for the first time following the onset of the pandemic. The Company expects to use opportunity to generate increased interest in its suite of in vitro diagnostic and research products for COVID-19 and other infectious diseases, and to introduce and promote its CoPrimer™ technology and applications to a wide audience of international attendees. The booth will be hosted by representatives of the Company and its European distributor network.

Attendees interested in learning more about the Company and its products, including the point-of-care and at-home rapid PCR diagnostics platform currently in development, are invited to visit Booth D11-2 in Hall 3.
